Dear Members,

The HKPS will have our annual Christmas Function this year on Sunday 4th December, 2011. We had a great party last year with more than 150 participants celebrating Christmas with us in the grand and spacious Versailles Ballroom of Regal Kowloon Hotel in Tsim Sha Tsui. In view of the overwhelming response and support last year, we have decided to hold our annual Christmas Function in the same venue again this year and will continue to have our most popular recreation programme for children before the dinner party. Members can enjoy the fraternity with casual chatting and cocktail before dinner.

This year, we have decided to have a dress-up party and the theme will be “Christmas”. You can dress up as any biblical character such as Mary or Jesus; or come in as a shepherd or an angel. Children can come in animal outfits and be a sheep or a camel if they are not interested in dressing up like a specific character. You can even dress up as a Christmas tree or a shining star. We will continue to have the Magic Show and our very popular talent competition for our children again this year. Chinese children have got talent - parents need to help gifted and talented children to realize their full potential. Please encourage and support your children to join in the talent competition and perform magic show, singing, dancing, speech and drama, acrobatics, martial arts or any other activities of their choice. You are welcome to bring in your own musical instruments or tools for the talent competition. Parents are welcome to help and support their children on stage for their performances. There will be big prizes for the winners.
